About Us

Psychiatric News, the print and electronic news service of the American Psychiatric Association, provides timely and authoritative information for APA members, other physicians and mental health professionals, and the public about developments in the field of psychiatry that impact clinical care and professional practice.

It accomplishes these goals by providing important clinical and research news across the field of psychiatry and the biobehavioral sciences; providing information about mental health issues with a particular focus on news that affects the profession of psychiatry and the delivery of quality care to patients; providing information on APA's policies, programs, and actions across the spectrum of APA's activities including areas such as advocacy, education, ethics, minority interests, and clinical guidelines; and serving as a forum for the exchange of ideas and opinions among members, thus assisting in creating a sense of community.

The print edition is published on a monthly basis. The Psychiatric News website contains articles that appear in the print edition but are posted on a breaking-news basis; the website also includes exclusive online-only content. The Psychiatric News Alert covers breaking clinical and research news each day, and the Psychiatric News Update provides information on APA services, programs, and initiatives, as well as links to APA Publishing clinical and research articles, and is emailed once a week to all APA members.
